

Gavin Johnston

Gavin Johnston is from a small agronomy based town in Northeast Nebraska. He grew up around the farm lifestyle through friends and family. Gavin helped farm, but he always found himself in the garden. He seemed to be fonder of managing a reasonably sized plot than fifty plus acres. Other than the garden, Gavin spent the majority of his time mowing, scooping snow, or getting ready for varsity football. Currently he is attending Metropolitan Community College, pursuing a degree in Horticulture Management with the vision of operating a community based sustainable farm of his own.